PARVO PREVENTION

Parvo virus is a potentially fatal disease of dogs, it is extremely expensive to treat and a dog suffering from parvo is highly contagious to ALL dogs it comes in contact with, directly or indirectly (eg a person pats the diseased dog then pats their own dog). The frustrating thing is that it is easily prevented and at the moment Chinchilla Vet Services is treating a high number of parvo infected dogs!!

Prevention is through vaccination, starting at 6 weeks of age. The pup will then get 2 more vaccinations and then an annual booster, or alternatively there is a final vaccine that will last 3 years. We strongly recommend that ALL dog owners get their dogs vaccinated ASAP. Call and make an appointment on 46627637
